TALKS ON THRIFT

(American Bankers Association)

A THRIFTY NEIGHBOR

"Any woman who, in an emergency, cannot cook and serve a dinner, make a dress or trim a hat is only half a woman. Economy is no disgrace; any fool can spend money and waste it, but it takes judgment to spend wisely for value received."

—Mrs. Arthur G. Learned.

The following is not a piece of summer fiction but an actual conversation, the names alone being fictitious:

"Dear me! I do feel so happy," said Mrs. Collins as she dropped down into a chair in Mrs. Whitmarsh's parlor. "I've just been down town shopping. I stopped at the bank and deposited my month's savings. I had ten dollars to deposit."

"I declare," exclaimed Mrs. Whitmarsh, "I don't see how you do it. Your husband doesn't give you a cent more than mine gives me, there aren't any less in your family and you seem to have just as many things as I do. But as for saving! Why, we are always way behind on some bill or other. How in the world do you do it?"

"Well, you see," said Mrs. Collins, modestly, "my father and mother taught me to save when I was a girl. I began then to put my nickels in a little savings bank. Now whenever I think of a way of saving I always put the difference between what I might have spent and what I do spend right into my bank. If it's only five cents, if it goes, and if it's two dollars I make myself put that in, too."

"But where do you save?" interrupted Mrs. Whitmarsh.

"Oh," answered Mrs. Collins, "I'm always on the watch for chances. That's part of the secret. Just the other morning it struck me—for the first time, strange to say—that breakfast cereal might be cheaper by the half dozen. There is only five cents difference when you buy six boxes, but then you save the bother of ordering the six separately."

"I try to make my household expenses for each month come within a certain limit, too, and if at the end of the month I have spent less than I expected, the sum saved goes into my bank. I buy some cheap cuts of meat, for instance, a brisket of beef to boil and press, or pot roasts. You can make ever so many good soups out of the scraps, too, and John is very fond of soup. I make cream soups out of milk and the water in which vegetables are boiled. I dry vegetables, too. Do you know that dried celery leaves make almost as good a soup as the fresh celery itself?"

"Potatoes and onions and such things I lay in a supply of in the fall. We have a good vegetable cellar, you know. This last year I put down 40 dozen eggs also. My butter I buy direct from the maker."

"Can you save much on your clothes?" asked Mrs. Whitmarsh.

"I think I save most there by going without things. So often when you think you simply must have a new dress or a new hat you find you really can get along pretty well without. If you do need a new suit it's a good plan to buy it in the off season when things are really marked down. Well, I have talked as if I were the best planner in the world, haven't I? Probably my neighbors wish I would spend more on my clothes, but it does make you feel rich to have something sure laid by in the bank for the future."

HE TELLS HOW IT FEELS TO BE REAL COMEBACK

Akron Man is Happy for Change From "Grouch" To Normal Condition.

When a man who loves life throws out his chest, pulls his cigar from between smiling lips and says, "I feel great—I can eat anything," he has struck the keynote of content and is envied by his fellows.

But when that same man, only a short time before, is a run down, nervous and can't trust his stomach to accept even the plainest food, and then comes back into his own, he is so happy that he wants to make life better for the "other fellows" who suffer as he once did.

That is the story of O. L. Wood, 186 Hiller avenue, Akron, who last week added his praise in behalf of Tanlac, as he said that he might help others to be benefited.

Mr. Wood to a legion of friends is known as the "oil man."

"Two bottles of Tanlac have changed me from a 'grouch' to a normal happy man," said Mr. Wood, "and I want to recommend Tanlac to the men who are 'all in' as I was."

"For years and years I suffered from catarrh of the stomach. My condition was terrible. I had no energy and my limbs felt like so much iron. My mind was not clear and I could not sleep properly."

"In three months' time five physicians treated me, but I derived no relief. The general praise of Tanlac prompted me to try it. From the first day on my condition has steadily improved, and I now feel like a different man."

Daily Mr. E. E. Getter explains the merits of Tanlac to scores of men and women at the W. J. Wall Drug store. It is there that many citizens have endorsed Tanlac as an ideal remedy for stomach and kidney ills, ailments of the liver and catarrhal affections of the mucous membranes.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

WADSWORTH

The recent abolishing of the office of street commissioner for Wadsworth recalls to the town chronicler that W. F. Boyer, grandfather of the present mayor, was the first street commissioner of the village. He was appointed July 25, 1866, and was succeeded by J. P. Overholt, Jacob Showalter, Josiah Andrews, J. James Huffman, T. Corwin Hard, John Burgess, Michael Stocker, James Baughman, William Nolf, Abe Yoder, Samuel Andrews, James E. Huffman and Henry Rees.

Wadsworth merchants express themselves as being greatly pleased with their holiday business and state that never before was there such a demand for Christmas and New Year's supplies.
